

Biography

Mathew is a board-certified and licensed acupuncturist at the Henry Ford Center for Integrative Medicine. He received his Master of Acupuncture and Oriental Medicine degree from the Academy for Five Element Acupuncture in Gainesville, FL. He also earned a dual B.A. in Psychology and Spanish while participating in clinical research benefiting Asperger Syndrome children. Most recently he also participated as the primary acupuncturist in a feasibility study titled: Acupuncture in living liver and kidney donors.

He is a Certified Oncology Acupuncturist, Certified Acupuncture Detox Specialist, and additionally board-certified in Chinese Herbal Medicine.

Mathew has special interest in degenerative disorders, fibromyalgia, mental health, infertility, auricular vagus nerve stimulation, and both physical and mental trauma.