

Dr. Stephen Cahill began his education at Michigan State University where he received a bachelor of science in Human Biology and his Osteopathic doctorate. He then went on to complete his internship with the Henry Ford Hospital Systems tracked in general surgery before finishing a residency in family medicine at McLaren Hospital and a second residency in Dermatology at Kansas City University. He is a partner in a private practice in Grand Rapids, where he specializes in both medical and surgical dermatology.