

Emily K. Hurst, DO, FACOI

Emily K. Hurst, DO, FACOI, is AOA board-certified in Critical Care Medicine, Internal Medicine, and Hospice and Palliative Care Medicine. She currently treats patients as an Intensivist for the Henry Ford Health System where she is Chair of the Ethics and Supportive Care Committees for Henry Ford West Bloomfield Hospital. Dr. Hurst is the medical director for Henry Ford's virtual ICU (vICU) after serving patients in this capacity for communities across the United States over the past 11 years through Avel eCare.

She has served as clinical faculty for Michigan State University since 2006, and is the medical director of the Canterbury on the Lake Retirement Community in Waterford, Michigan. Previously, she served as an internal medicine program director for the Detroit Wayne County Health Authority while she worked as a Geriatric Internist with the Internal Medicine Physician Acute Care Team in the greater Detroit area.

Dr. Hurst is on the Board of Trustees for both the Michigan Osteopathic Association and the American Osteopathic Association. She also sits on the Michigan Health & Hospital Association Physicians in Healthcare Leadership Council and their Virtual Care Workgroup. She has a passion for education, political engagement and supporting her colleagues in leadership opportunities. Dr. Hurst travels both locally and nationally to serve in these capacities and loves to bring her children to these events where you will often see them with her.
